

Project Brief: Port Austin Michigan

The Village of Port Austin is a small area in the tip of the thumb of Michigan. As a vacation spot for many people on the East and Southeast side of the state, Port Austin is growing in popularity every year and the village is reflecting this by adding many new attractions, restaurants, and events in the area. With many people claiming the updates are to attract a younger and hipper crowd, Port Austin needs an up-to-date, organized, and attractive website to satisfy this new crowd. The site will focus on upcoming events with pictures and highlights of the village.